

Barriers to Sustainable Design in Affordable Housing

AIA Saint Paul
A Chapter of The American Institute of Architects

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Please join AIA Saint Paul Tuesday, February 21, 11:30-1:00 pm for the first Food for Thought program of our 2012 series.

Come enjoy lunch and hear about the challenges to providing sustainable design in affordable housing. Rosemary Dolata will give an in depth presentation on the unique barriers to sustainable design with a specific focus on affordable housing. Public policy will be discussed, as well examples of successful approaches from other countries.

Presenter:
Rosemary D Dolata, AIA, LEED AP

About the Team:

Rosemary's professional career is focused on affordable housing and sustainable design. In 2011 she began working as an independent consultant. Recent clients have included an architect, a general contractor, the Minnesota Housing Finance Agency, and the Metropolitan Design Center.

Date: Tuesday, February 21, 2012. Lunch begins at 11:30, presentations start at noon.

Location: Landmark Center, Alexander Ramsey Room

Cost: FREE for AIA Saint Paul members, $10 for others and no shows

To attend, RSVP to Judith Van Dyne at vandyne@aia-mn.org at AIAMN or fax this completed form with Name and Firm to (612) 338-7981 no later than Friday, February 17th. For questions call Judith at (612) 338-6763 x214.

Name: _____

Firm: _____ email address _____

AIA Saint Paul member (free)

Non-AIA Saint Paul member - $10 (payable at door or via credit card -

Credit Card Info # _____ Exp _____ Holder _____

Phone _____ / _____