AIA Minnesota Leadership Positions for 2017 – Applications due September 12!

AIA Minnesota is currently seeking applications for officer and board leadership positions that will begin January 1, 2017. The deadline for applications is Monday, September 12. If you are interested in exploring leadership opportunities at the local chapter levels – AIA Minneapolis, AIA Northern Minnesota, or AIA St. Paul – or with the Minnesota Architectural Foundation, members are encouraged to express their interest by September 12 as well.

Open AIA Minnesota Officer/ Board Leadership Positions for 2017:

- President-Elect (three-year commitment as President-Elect, President, and Past President; AIA and Assoc. AIA members eligible)
- Secretary (one-year term, renewable; AIA and Assoc. AIA members eligible)
- Treasurer (one-year term, renewable; AIA and Assoc. AIA members eligible)
- Associate Director (one-year term, renewable; only Assoc. AIA members eligible)

AIA Minnesota EVP's Message

WHAT IS THE STUFF OF LEADERSHIP?

Every month, from February through July of this year, I attended sessions of AIA Minnesota's Leadership Forum, where members engaged with this question. As they learned and listened, they were reflective, thoughtful, self-effacing, engaging, and inspiring. They are a cohort of up-and-coming leaders who are focused on bringing effective leadership to bear in their architecture firms and their communities.

Every month, from July 2015 through today, I have worked side by side with volunteer leaders on the boards and committees of AIA Minnesota, AIA Minneapolis, AIA Northern Minnesota, AIA St. Paul, and the Minnesota Architectural Foundation. In this work, I have seen the leadership skills of our members applied in a manner that refocuses dialogue on the problems we are trying to solve, and ensures context is considered and progress is made.

The world needs more leaders. It needs more courageous and more empathic leaders. And, I can personally attest, it needs more leaders from our architecture community. You have a perspective, a skillset, and a mindset that nonprofits, civic organizations, and associations need within their leadership teams.

Mary-Margaret Zindren, CAE
Executive Vice President

So take the leap! Apply for an AIA Minnesota leadership position – as an officer, a board member, or as a committee leader – or apply for the next round of the Leadership Forum. Reach out to one of the local AIA chapters in Minnesota or to the Minnesota Architectural Foundation to learn about the ways you might get involved. Check out opportunities for engagement with nonprofits, business groups, or local governments. And encourage someone in your workplace – a bright young star, a respected team leader, an inspiring senior executive – to do the same.

There are so many ways, so many places you can bring about positive change as an architect. Making room for association and community leadership in your life is not only good for your own development, it's good for your firm's business development and helps to grow the perceived value of architects. Go for it!

Leadership Positions Open for 2017

If you are interested in being considered for one or more of these AIA Minnesota positions, the application form can be found using the link below. The application asks you to briefly answer these questions (and to provide a resume):

- Why do you want to serve in this leadership role?
- What leadership experience would you draw upon in serving in this position?
- How have you been engaged with AIA (local, statewide, or national)? and
- How would you foster AIA Minnesota's commitment to growing diversity and inclusion in the profession and in the association?

Also, if you are interested in exploring leadership opportunities at the local chapter level – AIA Minneapolis (Hennepin County and central Minnesota), AIA Northern Minnesota (St. Louis County and northern Minnesota), or AIA St. Paul (Ramsey County and southern Minnesota) – or with the Minnesota Architectural Foundation, members are encouraged to express their interest by September 12th by emailing Amber Allardyce at allardyce@aia-mn.org; a follow-up call or meeting with a current leader will be set up to talk about the various opportunities available and your interest in serving.

This is an important time in the leadership of AIA Minnesota, the local chapters and the Foundation. By joining the leadership teams of any of these groups, you will be engaged in key decisions in response to member research conducted throughout 2016, and implementing each organization's strategic direction.

HOW LOCAL CHAPTER INVOLVEMENT MATTERS FOR YOU

GET INVOLVED TODAY!

If you've thought at all recently about growing your leadership skills, expanding the circle of professionals you work with, or raising your profile in the community, getting involved in your local chapter is a great way to do so.

While we're all making the most of this last month of summer, local AIA chapters are also gearing up for an active fall and preparing for 2017 – and you can be a part of it. Your skills, experience, and perspective are valued, and there are opportunities for you to get engaged right now, as well as over the course of the year. Your colleagues in the profession are wanting to get to know you and to learn from you, and are ready to help you reach your professional aspirations.

Reach out. Send an email. Make a call. We'd be happy to talk with you about the possibilities for you to get the most out of your local AIA chapter membership, and options for bringing your leadership to the work of your association.

Who should apply to serve as an AIA Minnesota officer or associate director?

Any AIA Minnesota member in good standing is eligible to apply for an open officer position. The Nominating Committee is particularly interested in members who have these qualifications and experience:

- Demonstrated leadership skills and leadership experience within a firm setting and/or within the profession
- Engagement in AIA Minnesota, a local AIA Minnesota chapter, and/or AIA on a national level
- Professional achievement in the field of architecture
- Strategic thinking skills and abilities
- Communications skills (oral and written, in various settings, and with a wide variety of individuals)
- Commitment to growing diversity and inclusion in the profession and within AIA Minnesota
- Emotional intelligence and the ability to engage and facilitate inclusive group decision-making
- Compatibility with the AIA Minnesota Board of Directors, officers, and staff

What is the selection process?

Anyone interested in being considered as a candidate should complete an application form by September 12, 2016.

Following the September 12, 2016 deadline for applications, the Nominating Committee will work to determine its recommended slate of candidates. The selection process will include individual interviews with the Nominating Committee. If many applications are received for a particular position, the Committee may narrow down the list of candidates to be interviewed based on the qualifications demonstrated in the written applications.

The Nominating Committee will present a slate of candidates for consideration by the AIA Minnesota Board of Directors at its October meeting. The slate approved by the Board of Directors will be communicated to the membership and voted on at the Annual Meeting held during the AIA Minnesota Convention & Expo. Successful candidates will assume office on January 1, 2017.

AIA MINNEAPOLIS LUNCHEON

There will not be a luncheon in August. MARK YOUR CALENDAR: Thursday, September 15 is the date of the next luncheon. The luncheon will feature an interactive workshop - titled "Speak Up!" - which is focused on getting you thinking about bias in the workplace and growing your comfort with speaking up to interrupt bias. When casual interactions involve biased assumptions or comments, what can you do in response?

2016 GOLF OUTING

280 golfers and representatives from more than 40 sponsoring companies enjoyed a beautiful afternoon of golf and conversation at Majestic Oaks Golf Course. This annual event raises money for the Minnesota Architectural Foundation.

PEOPLE & FIRMS

Karvacko, P.A. (formerly Karvacko Engineering and RRA) recently hired Tari Rayala, AIA, as architectural team leader.

LHB senior vice president Rick Carter, FAIA, LEED Fellow, recently presented "Net-Zero Tools for Building and Operations" at the National Association of College and University Business Officers' 2016 Annual Meeting in Montreal, Quebec. Also, the Illumination Engineering Society (IES) Minneapolis-St. Paul section recently granted an award to LHB for its Wisconsin Indianhead Technical College-Superior Student Commons Project.

Leo A Daly has appointed Doug Williams, CDT, LEED AP BD+C, as director of digital practice.

MSR senior associate Rachelle Schoessler Lynn was recognized with the national Designer of Distinction award from the American Society of Interior Designers (ASID) in July. Lynn's projects range from the interior of Minneapolis' Red Stag Supper Club (the first LEED-certified restaurant in the state) to the design and workplace practice of 3M's Corporate Headquarters in Maplewood. Rachelle also co-founded and led an independent architecture and interior design studio focused on sustainable design for five years.

NewStudio Architecture was recognized with the Athens-Clarke Heritage Foundation Award for Outstanding Rehabilitation for its work in repurposing a forgotten S. H. Kress store into a new Urban Outfitters retail location in Athens, GA. The firm also announced that it opened a satellite office in Brooklyn, NY.
